The Sorenson Center for the Arts, a 450-seat theater, hosts student and community drama, musical, and dance performances. This theater is equipped with the lighting, stage rigging, audio/visual systems, and acoustics of a fully working theater. The Center also includes practice rooms and a spacious lobby area.

The Sorenson Center was part of the Quadrangle project. Erland phased construction to provide for the safety of students, faculty and visitors on this active campus.
